Chapter 1 by Noah2005

Hey, guys. You write this apocalyptic story; I wanna see what happens.

Chapter 2 by Alexis Pawn

It is over. The beast is here. "666" Has begun.

I was sitting at my desk in astronomy class. There were three left days until the last day of high school, and my senior graduation. I could already feel the summer sun on my face just from looking out the window. I could never get a tan though, I'm already brown enough. I don't want to get a purple sun-burn.

"I know you guys already know about the sun.", Mr. Braginski said interrupting my thoughts, "And I know that you already know that the sun is going to explode a billion years from now, taking all of the solar system with it. But truly! The Sun is such a beautiful thing! She is our light form, which..."

I let his voice trail off in my head. He's too loud. I imagined what it would be like to travel in space. Floating around and maybe past the by the moon and visit Kepler-452b. That would be so awesome!

"Alana! Alana!"

"Hub, what?"

"Answer the question!"

"Uh, I didn't understand!"

"Oh, really?" Mr. Braginski said with a smirk. "You didn't understand?"

"Um...the middle?"

"Pay more attention next time. Kevin!"

"Yes sir?"

"Who was the first nation in space?"

"The Russians, sir."

"But who were the first to land on the moon?"

Kevin smiled a big old country grin, "Why, the grand ol' US of A!"

I whispered, "Show off."

At home I was watching the news channel with my brother. It was his turn to pick a channel, so we just sat there watching what was going on with the world and such. When suddenly a report that caught my eye, er, or ears.

"And now, German scientist, Ailbe Augustin with some very frightening news!"

"Ah yes, thank you.", he turned towards the screen, "As you all know, the sun was supposed to explode billions of years from now! But there has been some strange radiation levels going on and us scientists from all over the world have found out that we only have two years left until the sun collapses on itself turning into a black hole and takes all of the solar system with it!"

My brother got up, "Oh come on! This has to be a joke!"

"Well if this is a joke then why did those people let him on set?", I said.

"Probably cause' they're acting it out!"

"Then why would that man come all the way from Germany to here just to joke around on our news channel?"

"So they can get the accent right?"

The man spoke again, "These charts represent the immense heat that has going on for the past 10 years.", he pulls out some line graphs from 2010 all the way up until now. They said that the hottest temperature ever to be recorded was in 2014. It was an average of 0.74°C . But was just global warming alone. It's been getting even hotter year after year. Even after the year 2016 when pollution stopped. The sun has been aging faster than I thought.

"I'm telling you people! We only have two years to make space shuttles for every country in the world and ship everyone out of the solar system!"

By now, my whole family had sat down to listen to the scientist. "I recommend that the countries...

My mom started crying, n... with an angry expression his face.

"Um, mister?", the news anchor lady spoke,"what would you call this epidemic?"
He thought,"Vell, considering the human race is going to be viped out by some crazy supernatural force of nature und world vill be destroyed, I vould call it...", He looked dramatically at the screen, "God's Revenge."

Chapter 3 by thefluffyone

Then everything turned white

My vision, everything I saw.

Oh god, oh god. It's happening.The sun is exploding right in our faces.

The light burns my eyes,but not my skin. I don't even feel a wave of heat come over me.

Because then the light resigns. And everything went back to normal.

I hear my mother scream.

"What was that?" She asks, terrified.

The german man on the TV is still there,but he is shoved out of the way by another man who speaks with a firm voice. "We're sorry for the interference, but we think we may have figured out what that was. We are thinking it was a burst of light-not heat- from the sun."

He paused for a second before returning.

"And that, my friends." He took a breath. "Is the beginning of the end of the world."

Chapter 4 by NerdOfTheWorld

I stared at the tv with wide eyes, "Could this really be happening?". My mother was devastated, she looked like she just witnessed everyone she loved die and she couldn't do anything.

My brother was still convinced it was a joke, he was in no way convinced that it was true. Then my dad said "We are going to sp

My brother and I looked at each other, we couldn't afford to get our family of 4 into space with his salary of $3000 a week.

Chapter 5 by bookworm2102

After that day, "God's Revenge" was all anyone could talk about. Some people were excited for the chance to go to space, and some were scared that in just two years, Earth and the whole entire galaxy would disappear.

"Alana!"

My head snapped back to class.

"Just two more days..." I thought.

"Yes?" I asked Mr. Braginski.

"Even if it is the end of the world, PAY ATTENTION! Do I make myself clear?"

I nodded. "I sure hope he won't be getting on that spaceship any time soon." I thought, as my thoughts were forced back to science class.

Chapter 6 by NerdOfTheWorld

Mr. Braginski was talking about preparation for the trip to space. I wrote down some of the things he said like blanket, clothes and flashlight. About 20 minutes later in math class the loud speaker went on. "Alana please come to the office, you are leaving.". Then I realized I was leaving alright, I was leaving EARTH! I was scared and excited at the same time. When I saw my dad he had my brother and my mom carrying 2 suitcases each. He handed me mine and we went in the car. My brother was protesting and saying that it was a joke. Then we heard a siren. My dad said it was the sound that comes on when there is an evacuation to space. We were going inside of the spaceship. My heart was thudding. The workers told me to get rid of all earth foods and select what foods you will want for the 20 year trip. "20 years!?" I exclaimed. The worker said, the universe is huge. I saw that they had pizza, it was like the pizza and I were magnets. The worker said "get as many as you want.". I might've ordered 1000 boxes of pizza and 120 milkshakes. It was 20 years so what do you expect. Then we were told to get 800 liters of water and 70 of vegetables and 100 fruits. I chose corn and watermelon. Then we were told to step in a chamber to be cleaned. A greenish smoke filled the room and then disappeared. My shirt was spotless. Then we entered the ship....

Chapter 8 by Udit.a.g

After the flight attendants checked everyone's seat belts and tickets, the pilot announced, "Here we go guys. We are beginning our hyperdrive now. I request everyone to be seated and not to move around until further notice." After a few seconds, we felt the floor shaking under us. We were escaping the earth's gravitational pull. The ship started making screeching noises. A lot of people were panicking. But the attendants calmed them down. The experience lasted for only three minutes, but to me it seemed like three hours.

Finally, after all of eternity, the shaking stopped. There were sighs of relief everywhere. We could hear the captain speaking again. "Attention, everyone. We have now exited the earth's orbit. We will now begin-- oh wait. You have got to see this. Look outside the windows!"

"What's going on?", I thought. I looked outside my window, and that was it.

I'd NEVER thought I'd live to see this day.

This nightmare.
